

The Carpetbagger on AWARDS SEASON

Go Now

nytimes.com/carpetbagger

LENS

PHOTOGRAPHY, VIDEO AND VISUAL JOURNALISM

December 23, 2011, 12:03 AM

Year in New York Pictures

By DAVID W. DUNLAP

Suzanne DeChillo/The New York Times

Every week, three music therapists from MJHS Hospice and Palliative Care crisscross the city and suburbs to sing songs to the dying. Charla Burton, left, a music therapist, and Rose Vuolo.

Related Article »

Search This Blog

Search input field

Search

LENS HOME PAGE »

PREVIOUS POST

Pictures of the Day: Iraq and Elsewhere

NEXT POST

Pictures of the Day: Syria and Elsewhere

FOLLOW THIS BLOG

Facebook

Twitter

RSS

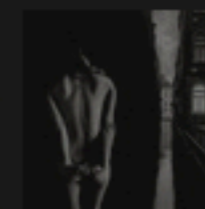

Featured Posts:

OCT. 18, 2011

Jerry Uelsmann's Analog Dreams

Before Photoshop allowed image makers to bend reality to their will with a single keystroke there was Jerry Uelsmann.

Jerry Uelsmann's Analog Dreams

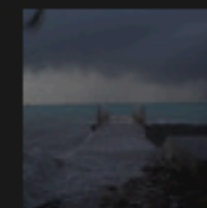

DEC. 19, 2011

As Water Rises, There's No Place Like (or for) Home

Amelia Holowaty Krales spent 10 months on a disappearing island in the South Pacific.

As Water Rises, There's No Place Like (or for) Home

50% OFF